

Outlook 2010

Skills Being Measured This exam measures your ability to accomplish the technical tasks listed below. The percentages indicate the relative weight of each major topic area on the exam. The higher the percentage, the more questions you are likely to see on that content area on the exam.

The information after "This objective may include but is not limited to" is intended to further define or scope the objective by describing the types of skills and topics that may be tested for the objective. However, it is not an exhaustive list of skills and topics that could be included on the exam for a given skill area. You may be tested on other skills and topics related to the objective that are not explicitly listed here.

Managing the Outlook Environment

- Apply and manipulate Outlook program options.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: setting General, Mail, Calendar, Tasks, Notes and Journal, Advanced, and Language options
- Manipulate item tags.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: categorizing items, setting flags, setting sensitivity level, marking items as read or unread, and viewing message properties
- Arrange the Content Pane.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: showing or hiding fields in a list view, changing the reading view, and using the Reminders Window and People Pane
- Apply search and filter tools.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: using built-in Search folders
- Print an Outlook item.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: printing attachments, calendars, multiple messages, multiple contact records, tasks, and multiple notes

Creating and Formatting Item Content

- Create and send email messages.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: specifying a message theme, specifying plain text, rich text, or HTML message content format, showing or hiding the From and Bcc fields, setting a reminder for message recipients, specifying the sending account, specifying the sent item folder, configuring message delivery options, configuring voting and tracking options, and sending a message to a contact group
- Create and manage Quick Steps.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: performing, creating, editing, deleting, and duplicating Quick Steps, resetting Quick Steps to default settings
- Create item content.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: inserting graphical elements and inserting a hyperlink
- Format item content.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: using formatting tools, applying styles, creating styles and themes, using Paste Special, and formatting graphical elements
- Attach content to email messages.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: attaching an Outlook item and attaching external files

Managing Email Messages

- Clean up the mailbox.

- This objective may include but is not limited to: viewing mailbox size, saving message attachments, saving a message in an external format, ignoring a conversation, and using clean-up tools
- Create and manage rules.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: creating, modifying, and deleting rules
- Manage junk mail.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: allowing a specific message (Not junk), and filtering junk mail with Never Block Sender, Never Block Sender's Domain, Never Block this Group or Mailing List, and Block Sender
- Manage automatic message content.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: managing signatures, specifying the font for new HTML messages, plain-text messages, specifying options for replies and forwards, and setting a default theme for all HTML messages, stationery, and fonts

Managing Contacts

- Create and manipulate contacts.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: modifying a default business card, forwarding a contact, and updating a contact in the address book
- Create and manipulate contact groups.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: creating a contact group, managing contact group membership, showing notes about a contact group, forwarding a contact group, deleting a contact group, and sending a meeting to a contact group

Managing Calendar Objects

- Create and manipulate appointments and events.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: setting appointment options, printing appointment details, forwarding an appointment, and scheduling a meeting with a message sender
- Create and manipulate meeting requests.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: setting response options, updating a meeting request, canceling a meeting or invitation, and proposing a new time for a meeting
- Manipulate the Calendar pane.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: arranging the calendar view, changing the calendar color, displaying or hiding calendars, and creating a calendar group

Working with Tasks, Notes, and Journal Entries

- Create and manipulate tasks.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: creating a task, managing task details, sending a status report, marking a task as complete, moving or copying a task to another folder, assigning a task to another Outlook user, accepting or declining a task assignment, updating an assigned task, and using Current view
- Create and manipulate notes.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: creating a note, changing the current view, and categorizing notes
- Create and manipulate Journal entries.
  - This objective may include but is not limited to: automatically record Outlook items, automatically record files, and editing a Journal entry